Other Relevant Procurement Information.

MRD has enough familiarity with DPs and WB-funded procurement activities, and procurement capacity in carrying the similar procurement activities under this Project. However, it is important to note that the IA has limited qualified procurement staff and they relied on outsourced procurement and technical consultants to assist them in the implementation of procurement activities under past donor-financed projects. Moreover, those projects have been implemented through PIUs set up in different departments of the ministries. For this project, each IA will need the supports of one national procurement consultant to assist them in executing procurement activities, providing supports on the contract management, and also strengthening their capability.
